The Absolute Jungle Experience has already begun!

A big run of Dorados made this first fishing week pretty unbelievable, with an average of 23 fish per angler!

Agua Negra:

AGUA NEGRA

After 7 months of missing the best jungle river we're happy to be here again! The mix between the gin clear waters of the Agua Negra and the endless structures of our main Secure river, gave us the chance to make the best schedule for two groups of amazing people and sharp anglers: the renowned Maddie Brennaman, Nick Kelly, Kevin John Leggitt and his son, Finn Harbert Legginn, enjoyed the jungle fishing in its best version.

Before the opening of the season the rain and cold weather made fishing a little bit more difficult even when the level of our main river (the Secure) was perfect. Kevin and Finn spent a couple of days in the Secure river trying to make the fish move from behind the logs and structure and it was worth it: they got a huge number of nice fish, and some really big dorados before they got into the beautiful Agua Negra river, where Maddie and Nik Kelly were camping out. They got some amazing pictures of nature and giant dorados in a crystal clear small mountain river. Fishing was great for them and they all got crazy about dorados chasing and hunting sabalos, when it is almost impossible to make a good cast!!!

After camps, the rain and cold weather appeared again, reason why we all came back to the lodge and enjoyed the Incredible menu of Leandro our chef. Weather got better very soon and by the end of the week the guides, Miguel and Luciano decided to spend one more day into the Agua Negra. They found a big group of migratory dorados going up and hunting everywhere. That way, Finn, Maddie, Nick and Kevin finished the week fishing our famous feeding frenzies and opening in the best way possible another season in this amazing destination.

Thanks to all of you for sharing our first week with us!

Sécuré:

SÉCURE

The Absolute Jungle Experience has already begun! Another amazing season started in this magic place, with many adventures yet to come and many fish to pursue.

A big run of Dorados made this first fishing week pretty unbelievable, with an average of 23 fish per angler!

The group of Canadian guests (Michael, Kevin, and Keith Calder) and two Czech guests (Martin Brezina and Martin Urban) also had the chance to spend a 2 overnight camp in the headwaters of the Secure River, enjoying their very first time in this jungle.

The weather was not on our side by midweek, but the camping experience was worth it, as well as the fishing. The river turned murky due to heavy rains upstream but even in this conditions the fishing was great, with many serious Dorados between 12 and 16 pounds. The trophy of the week was a 20 pounder Dorado caught by Michael Calder.

Our guests also landed many Pacu, and the biggest one was a 22 pounder. We cannot imagine a better way to start our 10 th season!

Ready for more adventures,
The staff of Sécuré lodge.
